PHRASE-BASED TEXT SEARCHING

Abstract

5   The computer-implemented process includes establishing a database containing data corresponding to a probability that words occur together in text, receiving a phrase comprised of the words, retrieving the data for the words from the database in response to receiving the phrase, and 10   determining, based on the data, whether to perform a text search for the phrase as a whole or for the words individually.

15   20215005.doc